ALPHA HOMES

Alpha Homes is a Liverpool-based housing Association that has established a good working relationship with CDP, having worked with them for the past couple of years. CDP has produced a variety of newsletters and publications for the association, along with a file of standards for tenants, including information on housekeeping and security.

“They have been very good at ensuring that we meet and adhere to our deadlines, as often it’s hard for us to attain information for what we need to put into our publications. Additionally, they have provided an excellent professional service to us.”
